

Kelly Rindfleisch Sentencing Hearing

November 19, 2012

Mitigating Considerations

- No criminal record
 - Truthful with investigators in multiple interview sessions (5) in December and January 2010
 - Her cooperation was a thing of value to prosecutors, whether or not it produced useful information in the eyes of those prosecutors
 - Pledged to honestly cooperate in the prosecution of Tim Russell, in which she has given helpful and detailed information

KR does politics

- Kelly's first preference was not a job in politics. Defense Memo page 2.
 - The truth is likely that Kelly would have taken any good paying job in late 2009.
 - Indeed, she likely she would have taken a job at any time that paid better than the County.
 - Ms. Rindfleisch's job with the Davis campaign is evidence of her need for additional cash.

KR does politics

- The fact remains, however, that Kelly has been employed in the world of politics since 1995 when she was about 26 years old.
 - Politics is what Kelly knows and does.
 - Based on my review of the e-mails between the campaign and Ms. Rindfleisch, people like Keith Gilkes (FOSW campaign manager) think she does a darn good job of it.

KR does politics

- The point? It is unlikely that she was forced into this criminal conduct by some third parties.
 - She found employment based on her skill set.
 - This was a world with which Ms. R was familiar.
 - This was a world about which Ms. R knew the rules.

I used the rellyk one when I was on a campaign so I would have access to it. However, yahoo won't let you go through outlook unless you have a paid account. So I set up the gmail one so I can use outlook and don't have to constantly be checking to see if I have mail. This one I'm using on my

This one I'm using on my laptop to do things I shouldn't be doing on my county computer.

I'm switching my hours to 7-4. But I've been fine with the 5:00 hour.

Brett - I discussed doing fund raising for you with Tim Russell (Deputy COS for the Exec)

[Russell] didn't seem to think there would be a problem

When we talked, I did say that I would have limitations including being able to make phone calls. I

. . . . but I will also check with Keith to see if the campaign is alright with it.

We can definitely do a two month contract to see if it works. If you decide that you need a full-time fundraiser, I can understand that.

When we talked, I did say that I would have limitations including being able to make phone calls.

I have several furlough days that I have to take (12)

~~weekends redesigning invites, putting lists together, drafting letters, etc.~~

I will have at least 3 weeks of vacation, so it won't be a problem for me to take a day off to make calls when needed

Most of what I'll be doing I'll be doing at night and on the weekends (designing Invites, putting lists together, drafting letters, etc.).

- These text passages concern "calls."
- Ms. R knows the formula for campaign activity is, as Jim Villa (Walker confidant and former Chief of Staff) puts it, "take vacation and go home."
- As we will see, almost 70% of campaign activity takes place during business hours while Ms. R is in the courthouse.

That's what he said. I'm going to have Cullen contact you to find another date that would work. I don't have access to Brett's schedule.

I did put together a call list for him. I think I sent it to you to look at. Let me know if I didn't and I'll do that.

Typical response rate is about 5%. It has been much higher with the events Brett has done because we've had wonderful participation from the hosts of the fundraiser. I've attached the list (I only took Pewaukee residents from my master list). Feel free to pare it down to what you are comfortable with. I'm sure there will be overlap with your list.

Brett's events have averaged around 30-50 people.

Let me know what else I can do.

One suggestion on the quote – point out that you are just holding the line but cutting taxes:

“I made a pledge to the taxpayers of Milwaukee County that I would reduce their tax burden,” said Walker. “I am convinced we need to not only hold the line on taxes but actually cut taxes to help the county taxpayers, especially during the current economic crisis.”

Kelly – we switched the order up a bit and warmed up the opening. It is more compassionate in the front end – we left out the $$$ on this version but I am indifferent if you fell it needs to be added back in. We took the money out because it becomes too defensive and looks like money means more than care.

Again – if you need the money back in, I am not going to fight on that point but I think the order of what you are addressing is better organized below and does not come off defensive. Call me with questions.

Like the rest of the community, we believe it is unacceptable if even one person fails to get proper mental health treatment in Milwaukee County. We take the health and safety of each and every individual under our care extremely seriously, and swift action in staffing and procedure at our facility has already taken place to ensure that we continue to improve the lives of the most vulnerable.

You can't say what you put for strelnick. He is suspended pending written charges for his discharge. You can't say he was responsible for the patient because of HIPPA. We can't confirm he was her doctor (and he wasn't until after she got pregnant). And he can appeal the decision and if he wins he will be practicing in MI county. I think all you can say is what I sent you from Joan.

And it doesn't answer the question about john being in charge of vulnerable people. I would say he was removed from the management role and is being overseen by the interim director of disability services.

Importance: High

"Thousands of Wisconsin commuters will be stuck in traffic on the Barrett Bypass today because of the failed leadership of Milwaukee Mayor Tom Barrett and Governor Jim Doyle who put off work on the zoo interchange to the point it was too dangerous to even drive over," said Scott Walker, Milwaukee County executive and candidate for governor. "In 2005, Mayor Barrett worked to delay work on the zoo interchange because '...the Zoo Interchange will stand long enough to resolve these issues' and as a direct result of Barrett's actions, Wisconsin taxpayers will foot the bill for $15 million in brand new bridges that will be torn down in a few years. "Years of raiding the Transportation Fund of over $1.2 billion to balance Doyle's budgets and years of Milwaukee politicians like the Mayor fighting work on the East-West corridor have now led to a crisis that will have a negative impact on jobs across Wisconsin when we need them the most."

•The northbound Hwy 45 bridge is in Milwaukee County, not the city.

- FACT – The zoo interchange is maintained by the state. From 2003 onward Scott has been advocating improving roads across Wisconsin. In fact in 2003, Scott Walker took on this fight with the City of Milwaukee that Wisconsin should build a system to meet our economic needs. Here is quote from a Milwaukee Journal Sentinel Article from April 3, 2003 after the regional planning commission meeting where Scott took on the city and won: "Walker said allowing traffic congestion to increase was 'equivalent to putting our heads in the sand' and 'will have a devastating impact on jobs.'"

Funding to fix the zoo interchange comes directly from the State Department of transportation, a fund that Governor Doyle has raided to the tune of 1.2 billion dollars. Milwaukee Mayor Tom

Graham Stowe assumed his attacker would be arrested and charged with battery after he was punched in the face, neck and arm on Nov. 4, requiring a trip to UW Hospital.

The repeated blows caused his jaw and neck to be swollen and bruised, said Stowe, 56, who requires physical therapy for ongoing neck problems.

But because Stowe is being held at Mendota Mental Health Institute, the case, he says, has gone nowhere. Mendota officials determined the attack wasn't serious enough to report to report the day after the beating.

Nearly three months later, Madison police have not acted on the complaint.

Lt. Brian Ackeret of the Madison Police Department's North District said last week he didn't know why the report wasn't referred to the district attorney's office but said ...

Kelly-

The Gateway to Milwaukee sent us a letter asking for 200 word or less comment from Scott on his "views, goals, and plans for The Gateway as a candidate for Governor..."

I'm not very familiar with the airport or The Gateway to Milwaukee and would really appreciate your help on this – particularly if you'd be willing to just write the first draft of it. I've attached a pdf of the letter we received.

The deadline is today, but I spoke with Tom Rave today and he's extended the deadline to tomorrow.

Thanks for your help,

I am suggesting that one person go to the office early and be ready for anything (you).

Keep on top of Sue Black, Kreklow, Archer, and all staff to make sure there is not a paper any where that details a problem at all.
